

CHARTER CHANGES ARE CONSIDERED

Commission Will Submit Both Propositions at Same Election

About 25 citizens—men and women—attended the meeting at the city hall Monday afternoon to discuss proposed changes to the existing city charter. It will provide for nonpartisan municipal elections and embody other changes considered necessary by city officials to provide more efficient government and protection.

Expressing his opinion of a nonpartisan charter, James H. Dicks stated he believed the courts will uphold such a charter because it apparently does not conflict with provisions of the constitution. He believes also that the city has the power under an amended or changed charter to make its own regulations and operate the same for local self-government.

Advocate Manager Plan

Dicks, who prepared the proposed managerial charter, and who is a strong advocate of the city manager plan in Tulsa, stated there is no provision in the managerial charter that should be incorporated in the nonpartisan charter so it will become effective if the nonpartisan charter is adopted. He suggested that an amendment be included to make the city liable for the payment of paving assessments. City Attorney Frank E. Duncan doubted whether the city can assume this power, but stated the difficulty might be met and the value of paving increased if a revolving fund is provided. Such a fund would, in effect, guarantee the payment of paving assessments. This plan was suggested to the mayor and commissioners by Duncan several months ago, but it cannot become effective under the present charter.

Considerable time was spent by the city attorney, the mayor and Dicks discussing the nonpartisan election feature of the proposed administrative charter. Duncan pressed understandingly whether candidates who fail to file for the primary would be privileged to file for the general election on a so-called independent ticket, as is the existing practice. No definite decision was reached on this point.

Duncan expects to immediately begin preparation of the nonpartisan charter so it and the managerial charter may be submitted to voters in January or early in February.

Resume Russian Trade

By Associated Press.
ROME, Dec. 19.—Italy's resumption of trade with Russia is advocated by the foreign committee of the senate under certain limitations. The committee today declared that the restoration of trade between Italy and Russia must be considered apart from the question of the resumption of diplomatic relations which are to be governed by guarantees.

Teacher's Family Takes Basement of Schoolhouse and Avoids High Rentals

Special to The World.
TANLEQUA, Dec. 19.—The way to beat the high rates of housing has been solved by a school teacher named Alexander, who has taken a schoolhouse near the center of the Park hill neighborhood. The schoolhouse is equipped with a basement and has two restrooms. As comparative few people attend only one room is used for school purposes, and the teacher and family, with other relatives, live in the other, while the basement is used for storage purposes. His chickens chase about the schoolyard and there is a "homey" aspect about the building.
